

HOOVER OUTLINES POSSIBLE RECOVERY STEPS

LT. GOVERNOR'S POST IS PRIZE POLITICAL PLUM

Four Candidates Already
In Race for Democratic Nomination

SIX OTHERS ALSO THINK OF RUNNING

G.O.P. Not Greatly Interested; Herbert Only Candidate Thus Far

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 6.—Ohio's $3-million job of lieutenant governor appeared today to be the prize political plum of the year, especially among the Democrats.

Four Democrats already were formally in the race for the Democratic nomination, with six more threatening to throw in their hats. Others may line up for the start before elections close June 10.

So far, Republicans do not appear to be greatly interested in the office. Paul M. Herbert of Columbus, the nominee two years ago, being the only candidate to announce.

Hats In The Ring

Democrats who have announced
are Speaker of the House Frank R. Uhl of Cleveland; Representative John P. Rogers of Butler county; Harry J. Halper of Akron, a member of the state housing board,
and Ben D. Leckler of Butler county, an insurance company executive, and chairman of the Inter-Organization Conference, an organization opposed to new tax levies.

Democrats who are understood to be considering entering the race are Senator James M. Metzenbaum of Cleveland, attorney for the senate investigating committee; State Senators William M. Boyd of Cleveland, John Taylor of Salem, E. Matthews Steele of Wilmington, J. Ralph Seidner of Youngstown, and Representative
John E. Curtin of Toledo.

Leut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder, a Democrat, announced some months ago
he would not seek re-election.

Yoder's Control

One possible reason for so many Democrats wanting the position may be that they have visions of duplicating Yoder's control over the upper branch of the state's law-making body. As leader of the "hatchet men," an insurgent group organized primarily to oppose new tax levies, Yoder was able to draw all legislation. Only such measures as had approval of the group were permitted to become law.

Senators Boyd, Taylor and Seid-ner are allied with the "hatchet men." Steele was too, for a time, but withdrew. Leckler has always been friendly with the group.

The principal reason for the popularity of the position is because of its light duties, providing the occupant does not take the job too seriously. The lieutenant governor's primary function is to preside over the senate. If he is not on hand some senator wields the gavel.

Not one lieutenant governor ever has been elevated to the chief executive's chair by election. Some have reached it through death of the governor.

Spellers Await Lisbon Contest; Webster Popular

118 Youngsters In Battle
Of Words With Medals
As Prizes

LISBON, May 6.—That very important book compiled by Noah Webster has been carefully scanned for the past week by 118 youngsters, each of whom hopes thereby to win one of the 12 medals offered winners of the county spelling contest here Saturday.

Webster's opinion on such frequently misspelled words as "cemetery" and "subtle" is the object of unusual juvenile interest as the contestants cram for the examination. Possibly much more difficult words are involved as the contest represents the pick of the spellers in the county school system.

They were selected at earlier contests conducted in the school districts. Saturday morning they will gather in the Lincoln school building in Lisbon, each with two carefully sharpened pencils. As soon as the papers have been graded the medals will be awarded.

Four Grades Complete

Fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades only will take part. The winners in each of the four grades will be awarded gold, silver and bronze medals, representing, respectively, first, second and third place.

Contestants in each grade will be given 50 words orally. They are required to write them legibly and correctly. Webster's New International dictionary is the final authority. But if the dictionary lists two spellings as correct either will be acceptable to the teachers grading the papers.

In case of a tie additional words will be given until the winner is determined. Word lists in the case of more than one tie may be made from any source as designated by those in charge. All teachers whose classes are represented in the contest are required to attend the event.

SCHOOL NEEDS ARE STRESSED

State Urges Construction Of New Building at Children's Home

LISBON, May 6.—A recommendation for a new school building, made by E. M. Dietrich, state director of education, was embodied in the annual report of the superintendent of the Fairmount Children's home, given at a meeting attended by Columbiana and Stark county officials Thursday afternoon.

Dietrich's letter stated that existing buildings at the school are well organized and directed.
"The greatest need," he said, "is a new building, for present arrangements and methods of operating are not satisfactory. The school is doing some fine work within the narrow compass of its facilities."

The report was read at a business meeting following the annual dinner at the home. Commissioners from both counties, the board of trustees for the home and Juvenile Judge H. W. Hammond of this county were among the guests. The home is supported jointly by Columbiana and Stark counties.

A bond issue to finance the erection of a new school building and providing for the conversion of the present building into a dormitory was defeated last fall. Tentative plans are underway to construct the addition as a PWA project.

The report listed 340 children under financial care of the institution as of December 31, 1937—an increase of 40 over the figure for the preceding year. Two hundred and eighty children were cared for at the home at the beginning of the current year and 272 outside of it—at boarding homes, relatives
homes and other agencies.

The farm operated in connection with the home grossed $10,- 678.57 during 1937. Farm products making up the aggregate included milk, hogs, poultry, farm crops and vegetables. The revenue from milk was $1,706.36; poultry, 2,478.75;
crops, 3,882.60; vegetables, $765.88;
fruit, $125; potatoes, $500; dairy,
including milk, $2,243.16.

LIQUOR STORE HEAD NAMED AS FEE COLLECTOR

Frank C. Schroer Indicted by Hamilton County
Grand Jury

80 ARE QUIZZED
IN CINCINNATI

Six Charges Involve Solicitation of Democratic Funds

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, May 6.—Frank C.
Schroer, state liquor store supervisor, was indicted by the Hamilton county grand jury today on six charges involving solicitation of Democratic campaign funds from civil service employees in the liquor department here.

The six indictments resulted from a three-day inquiry into charges that the state employee had been assessed portions of their salaries to aid the primary campaign of Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Conviction carries a possible fine of $50 to $500, imprisonment for six months or both, and the statute provides also that any official so convicted automatically loses his position. Schroer later pleaded innocent before Judge Alfred Mack and was released on his own recognizance.

Nearly 80 persons testified before the grand jury, which conducted its inquiry simultaneously with another launched in Columbus by Atty
Gen. Herbert S. Duffy.

Schroer yesterday refused to testify, asserting in a statement issued by Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcall that he felt his testimony
"might tend to incriminate" him.
Schroer's counsel added a plea to the public to "withhold judgment"
pending the jury report.

Assistant Atty Gen. Will P.
Stephenson said at Columbus that 16 persons had been named as collectors of funds in testimony presented by state employees there.

"DOG SITUATION UNDER CONTROL"

That's Report Today of Health Board; Eight Dogs Shot Yesterday, Six "Gassed"

Although police continued their campaign to rid the city of stray dogs, Dr. R. T. Holzbach, health commissioner, reported today the "dog situation in Salem is pretty well under control."

Treatments were started today
on the 10 persons who were bitten
Tuesday by a rabies-infected dog.
At least eight dogs found running at large were shot by police yesterday. Six others were gassed at the dog pound of Clarkson French, humane officer, on N. Elsworth ave.

The police department is cooperating with the board of health in trying to prevent the spread of rabies.

The Columbiana County Humane society yesterday appointed Fred Harley of East Liverpool, humane officer for the river city. East Liverpool is having its own battle against mad dogs and a rabies outbreak. A total of 22 dogs believed to have been suffering from the disease have been killed to date at East Liverpool.

County Dog Warden Daniel
Butch of Leetonia will go to East Liverpool Monday to assist police in shooting all stray dogs found there.

County health authorities in Lisbon reported today that 120 persons in the county have received treatment against rabies infection
since Jan. 1.

JAPAN PUSHING TRADE PROSPECT

Shanghai Distributor for Salem Firm Tells of Business Outlook

"Inside" business conditions and military movements in China are revealed in a letter written to the Demping Co. by its distributor in Shanghai.

The letter reads as follows:
"We refrained from writing you earlier about business conditions
because we were hoping to report a marked improvement. Now that it seems recovery may be delayed, we will try to give you a brief outline of the commercial situation as this, perhaps, is not brought out in the dispatches of an ordinary newspaper."

Japs Take Over Factories

"In North China, the Japanese are operating the railways and have taken over many former Chinese factories and enterprises.
They have been purchasing from the Chinese producers raw products such as cotton and wool at more or less their own prices, and have reduced or abolished import and export duties where it is favorable to their own manufacturers and merchants to do so."

"Japanese authorities are now
trying to establish a new currency, having the same par value as the Yen, and there is a fear that it may be subject to the same restrictions on exchange into foreign currencies that are now in force in Japan and Manchoukuo (Manchuria), and thus virtually preclude imports into North China
from countries other than Japan."

"In the coast provinces of Central China, under Japanese control, fighting has been far heavier than in the North and the dislocation of normal life consequently much greater. The waterways,

Jack Smith New Mibs Champ At M'Kinley School

Miss Natalie Sharpnack's
Sixth Grader Wins
Six Straight

Five of seven school champions
in The Salem News marble tournament for boys and girls under 15 years of age had been named today, leaving only St. Paul's school and Junior High to complete their events preparatory to starting the city finals.

The fifth champion was selected this morning when Jack Smith, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Smith of 121 Hawley ave., won the tournament finals at McKinley school.

Smith, who succeeds Wilmer
Stanley as the best of McKinley school mibsters, joins Don Pasco of Columbia, George Drakulich of Prospect, Raymond Scullion of Reilly and Bobby Brown of Fourth Street in the ranks of school champions.

Former Champ Out

Stanley, the winner of the McKinley tournament last year, was not in the grade school event this year because he is now a student in the Junior High. However, the name Stanley was not missing from the McKinley finals since the former champion's brother, Robert,
was one of the competitors.

Smith was easily the best of the McKinley finalists and displayed his superiority over the other players by winning six straight matches.
Seven room champions competed in the finals and all but Smith lost
at least one match.

In capturing the school championship, Smith defeated Jerry Miller of the first grade, 7-2; Robert Hodge of the third grade, 7-0;
Duane Yeagley of the fourth grade, 7-2; Robert Stanley of the fifth grade, 7-4; David Atkinson of the fifth grade, 7-6, and Robert Workman of the sixth grade, 7-0.

Smith is a pupil in the sixth grade room taught by Miss Natalie Sharpnack, principal. He is a consistent shooter when in the center of the circle, but lacks the accuracy of some of the other school champions from the edge of the ring.

ROME SHUDDERS AT WAR PARADE

Mussolini Tries to Out-
do Hitler Looks On

(By Associated Press)
ROME, May 6.—The Nazi European war—if it comes—will be largely a struggle with chemical flames and artillery if Premier Mus-solini's lineup of armed forces today
in honor of Reichsfuehrer Hitler
was an indication.

Also, it will be the "totalitarian war" of which the late master strategist, Gen. Erich Ludendorff, wrote, meaning that women and children would be quite as much drafted into service as men.

Spectators Shudder

Mussolini showed his guest a whole "chemical regiment" that sent a shudder through the mass of spectators. The soldiers looked like beings from another planet in their gas masks.

A further feature of the impressive two-hour parade was the prominence given to artillery, from machine guns and anti-aircraft pieces,
to heavy cannon.

How seriously Mussolini is thinking of future war as a "totalitarian war" may be judged by the fact that his review included not only regular army units but also small boys, girls in black uniforms, teen-age youngsters on horseback, military units of university students and various Fascist formations, including the Colonial Fascist police.

The dictators of two powerful modern European nations appeared in excellent spirits.

Mussolini repeatedly turned to Hitler to explain to him in fluent German gutturals the successive features of the review.

It was the second of four great war shows arranged in the honor of the man who rearmend Germany.
Sham Battle on Program

A sham battle and a mammoth aerial circus yet were on the program. Yesterday the fuhrner, favored by a calm sea, witnessed the maneuvering, with war-like precision, of Premier Mussolini's naval forces at Naples.

Observers said they were impressed by the intimate comradeship that prevailed between the two men.

(By Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, May 6.— Herbert Hoover presented to the nation today an 11-point attack upon depression and called upon the Roosevelt administration to abandon what he termed "a dangerous road for democracy."

The former president delivered
one of a series of major addresses
here last night at a "grass roots"
convention of Oklahoma Republicans.

"In the speech, broadcast nationally, Hoover again assailed New Deal
policies and warned:
"We have been allowing that dangerous road for democracy that led to disaster in Europe."

Lays Blame on Government

Declaring that "despite every alibi, this depression is the direct result of governmental actions," Hoover asserted the New Deal "propose to travel further down this dangerous road . . .

"And," he said firmly, "we are not going down that road without more fighting free speech."

"For a start on a saner and more cheerful road," he outlined as "practically possible."

"I have full confidence that there will be no more attacks upon the safety of the nation. That is the responsibility of congress and the courts."

FIRST REPERCUSSION

Florida politicians are the only ones capable of knowing what the nomination of Sen. Pepper in the state Democratic primary really means.

The country at large is more interested in knowing what the charges of Sen. Pepper's opponents in the primary mean. Former Gov. Sholtz and Rep. Wilcox, both defeated by large margins, alleged long before primary day that the WPA was being used to give the senator an advantage. Rep. Wilcox promised to call for a searching investigation of the "whole rotten mess" when he got back to Washington. This is the first primary repercussion of 1938.

Sen. Pepper is a new dealer. He was endorsed by Son James. Whether or not his victory is a good sign for the new deal is something for politicians to decide. Whether or not his victory was made possible by putting WPA money "where it would do the most good" is something for congress to decide. If this suspicion is going to be raised every time a new dealer wins a voting contest, new dealers should be the first to demand an investigation, if their hands are clean.

OPTIMISM IS PRESCRIBED

Here it is, end of the first week in May. That's not particularly important, except that in May it's hard not to think of thousands of school children going down the home stretch toward June, and particularly of the boys and girls who are going to be graduated this year—the class of '38.

It has become almost a custom when congratulating these youngsters and wishing them good luck to add, sotto voce, "You'll need it." There was a senior class out west somewhere, this year which adopted "WPA. Here We Come!" as its class motto. This is bad business for high school graduates to fool with the idea they're whipped before they start. Something needs to be done about it. Perhaps commencement speakers could help to do it; they get the last crack at the impressionable minds of the graduates.

Here's a proposition for them to work on. If they haven't already written their speeches. Go back two, three, four, five generations, to the time when the great-grandfathers and grandmothers of the graduates were starting out in the world, usually with nothing fancier than the alphabet and the multiplication tables as standard educational equipment.

Show them what has happened to education. Show them that it isn't a failure because it can't get them a job on demand, but that today it is giving them the best chance which society gives youth anywhere in the world to live useful, pleasant lives.

Disabuse them of the notion that this is a contracting universe. Urge them to quit comparing their condition with what they wish it could be and to try comparing it with what it would have been had they been born in any previous generation.

Probably, that's what most commencement speakers will try to do anyway. If so, fine. A little optimism along with the diplomas will come in handy. The seniors, by this time, have soaked up all the pessimism they can stand.

BIG PUSH

The big push is on for the wage-hour bill which the house rules committee voted to bury. The President has climbed further out on a limb for it, labor organizations are turning on steam and things are humming.

This is what must happen before the bill can pass. It must be taken from the rules committee by a petition bearing 218 names. The names must be obtained between May 6 and May 12, if the bill is to be considered during May.

The earliest date it can be considered is May 23, if the 218 signatures are obtained. Then the bill will be open to debate on the floor of the house. If passed, it would be sent to conference committee. The wage-hour bill the senate passed last year is different from the bill the house is considering this year.

The chief difference is that the house bill doesn't provide a minimum wage differential for various parts of the country. This is the vital part of the bill. Without a wage differential, the south doesn't want such a bill. With a wage differential, the north doesn't want such a bill.

Provided, the conference committee did report out a bill, the issue would be open to debate in both houses of congress. Adjournment would be delayed many weeks—perhaps months.

So it still is doubtful whether the politicians are trying to pass a wage-hour bill this session, or are trying to nail down the votes they've been promised if they do a convincing job of bleeding and dying.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, May 7

A particularly lively and interesting day is forecast from the prevailing lunar and mutual configurations. This applies to business and personal affiliations, in which much enterprise and initiative are probable. But all call for deliberation, prudence and forebearance, as there are some peculiar lures, temptations and probable pitfalls. However, there may be some gain, and good news may figure in profitable decisions.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively and interesting year, with much stirring in the private, social, emotional and business lives. While speculation and affairs of chance might in the end prove profitable, yet there are pitfalls, intrigues and perils to be handled prudently. Well-meaning friends may lure one to folly and loss.

A child born on this day may be extremely lively and enterprising, reaching for a place in the limelight by bold and brilliant gestures that may entail extravagance, indulgence and unenviable notoriety. Such traits have very early detection in "showoff" children who clamor for attention.

FEARS AFTERMATH OF THE NEXT GREAT CONFLICT

(By International News Service)

PARIS, May 6.—A former French Minister of War today has issued a public warning of one of the grim prospects of the next great war which is seldom mentioned except in private conversation—the events following victory.

In the opinion of most informed European observers, the winners in the next war will not stop with mere victory; the winners will carry on with a relentless conquest. They will take such measures to render the foe impotent that virtual slavery is likely to result, at least for a while. The Woodrow Wilsons and Lloyd Georges and Briand will be brushed aside. There will be no stopping at the Rhine.

Outspoken Warning Sounded And this was the unmistakable warning given by Senator Paul Benazet, handsome, crisp, former Minister of War in the Herriot cabinet of 1924, in an article which appeared in Petit Parisien.

"It (the next war) would have consequences infinitely more grave than those which resulted at Versailles," he wrote.

Senator Benazet told of a recent conversation he had had with a high personage of Germany, a close friend of Adolf Hitler. He quoted the German as saying, "It is difficult for us to understand your country. It is in danger—but who knows? What will it do?" Benazet said he replied as follows: "All appearances seem in logic to be against us. But the French really defies all logic. It defies the most subtle analysis. At every critical hour in our history, our race has performed feats of vitality which have astonished the world.

World War Defeat Recalled "In 1914, your Emperor declared war on us with an impetuousness in the outcome. He had then a great superiority in men and materials of war. But, with the trumps in his hands, the Imperial Reich was defeated.

"Believe me, the result will be the same in case of a new aggression. "Materially and morally, we will be able, with the aid of England, to resist indefinitely. Others will come to our side to assure victory.

"The defeat of Germany—and that, to me, is certain—will have consequences infinitely more grave than those which resulted at Versailles."

Admirer of Daladier Senator Benazet, who has long urged and worked for a "totalitarian defense" is a warm admirer of Premier Daladier who, as Minister of National Defense, has succeeded in the last two years in centralizing control of the army, navy and air forces.

The "conquest" by the winning side in the coming great war is regarded not only as inevitable, but desirable, by one large school of thought. An officer of the French General Staff recently explained this view to the writer. He said:

"Europe's only hope of salvation is the elimination of nationalism. There will be wars until there is an United States of Europe. There will be a United States of Europe some day or else there will be complete self-annihilation.

System Debated "The question is, what kind of an United States? An United States under Fascism, Communism, or under a system based on democratic or republican principles?

"The answer will depend on who has the most military force. For it will require war, a great totalitarian war, to create a United Europe.

"That is why democracies should be stronger now than ever before. They must be strong enough to survive, if they are strong enough they could, after the next war, spread their principles throughout Europe and with firm action eliminate 90 per cent of the danger of war in the future.

"Armies are not inevitably evil institutions. I think that the armies of democracies today might be likened to surgical instruments which might be used in the performance of an operation Europe is coming to need very badly."

MONROE, N. Y. — Automobiles for relief clients have been barred by a welfare board ruling. Hereafter, applicants for relief will be obliged to surrender their auto license plates.

HEALTH Court News

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York City.

SPAN OF LIFE

A recent report of the U. S. States public health service indicates that the expectancy of long life is greater now than ever before. An infant born today has the prospect of living 12 years longer than was expected of its parents at their birth. The expectancy of life in 1900 was 49 years, while the expectation of today's baby is 61 years.

But we must not be misled by statistics. In this matter, for example, we are dealing with babies in the mass; the individual baby may not have so bright a prospect. Whether by bad luck or by chance or whatnot, the youngster may die young. I recently pointed out to you that there has been a marked increase in disease of the middle aged and the number of deaths.

If we carefully examine the statistics, we discover many interesting facts. The diseases of the young are better controlled than they were in former years. Boys born in cities are likely to live longer than girls. The children of cities are healthier than those of the country. This must mean that the health conditions, sanitation and hygiene are better in cities than in rural sections.

In former years the life expectancy of man was definitely influenced by many diseases that were imperfectly understood. A baby born in Rome during Nero's time had an expectation of life at birth of not more than 20 to 25 years. In England around 1800 it is estimated that it was around 38 years. As knowledge increased, particularly concerning the diseases of childhood, there was a steady decrease in the death rate.

But all these things do not make certain by any means that the expectation of life will continue to increase, or that the individual's hope of life is growing brighter. The future span of life depends entirely upon the control of such diseases as cancer, diabetes, heart disease, kidney disorders, "strokes" and other tragedies of middle life. Many of these disorders are neglected and only brought to the attention of the doctor after a catastrophe has occurred.

Health authorities believe that by careful periodic health examinations it will be possible to decrease these serious disorders. If they are properly attended to, there is no doubt that the average span of life will be markedly lengthened.

Morgan Not Looking For a Defense Fund

PITTSBURGH, May 6 — Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, dismissed chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, said today he did not "know anything about" "know anything about" "know anything about" defense fund to carry on a fight for reinstatement to the government agency.

Commenting on reports that such a fund was being raised, Dr. Morgan, in Pittsburgh on business, said:

"If I wanted to be reinstated that is entirely a personal matter. I know nothing about a defense fund. Some people have suggested they would like to help in establishing points in the investigation (of the TVA) but that has nothing to do with a defense fund."

"I don't want any defense fund and I don't expect any."

COLUMBIANA, May 6.—Fire Chief Harvey Hisey has informed Columbiana council that interference of automobiles made it difficult for the fire truck to reach fires quickly. The town has ordinances which state that all vehicles should pull over to the curb and stop.

This will be strictly enforced and persons failing to observe the rule will be arrested. Council went on record asking the state highway department for a traffic light to be placed at the intersection of East Park ave. and Elm st. Circus Orphan and Her Pet "Toots"

Mary Hilton, Circus Orphan, and Toots.

Among the boys and girls with the great Robbins Brothers Circus there are a score. They are children of performers and officials of the big show, excepting Mary Hilton, five years old, the little circus orphan.

Tragedy has followed in the wake of little Mary's life. Her father, an aerial gymnast, was killed in a fall from a perch pole at the Chicago stadium three years ago. Several months later her mother, who, too, was a circus performer, died, after a short illness. With no immediate relatives, Mary was adopted by performers of the Robbins Brothers Circus.

Although deprived of parental care, Mary is the little sweetheart of all of the 300 performers with the show. She has an endless number of Shetland ponies and a wagonload of dogs as playmates. Added to this list of pets this year is a lion cub, Toots.

The little trouper wishes to be an acrobat when she grows up. Her training has already started. Just now Mary is studying her Three Rs, under the tutelage of Fred Yost, a clown, and the most school-ed performer with the circus.

The Robbins Brothers Circus is scheduled to appear tomorrow in Salem for two performances at 2 and 8 p. m. Doors to the menagerie will open at 1 and 7 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Cope and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Henderson were among those who attended the funeral of their cousin, Lorin Cope of Middleton, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Francis Price is a daughter.

Hold Banquet

The girls of Miss Verna Barber's Methodist Episcopal Sunday school class banqueted the boys Tuesday evening climaxing their attendance contest which was recently won by the boys. Twenty-four members were present and participated in a treasure hunt and other games following the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brantingham organized a Christian Endeavor society at their home Tuesday evening. Dawson Irey Jr., was chosen president. The young people enjoyed a weiner roast also, during the evening.

Fall Proves Fatal To Sebring Painter

SEBRING, May 6.—Falling from a porch roof while at work, Frank W. McVaine, 67, Sebring, painter, was almost instantly killed at 10 a. m. Thursday.

McVaine was painting above the porch at the front of the Reuben Smoyer home on East Kentucky ave., when he fell to the ground, apparently striking his head on a sidewalk.

McVaine had no relatives in Sebring. Coming from Beaver Falls, Pa., he had been a resident here approximately 20 years, acquaintances said.

Survivors include a brother and sister in Beaver Falls.

Direct Payments Plan Is Abandoned

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Members of a house appropriations subcommittee said today they had decided tentatively against appropriating works-relief funds directly to spending agencies instead of to President Roosevelt.

The group had considered the direct appropriation method but members of the subcommittee said President Roosevelt objected to such a course on the grounds that relief program would be expedited if he were allowed to exercise discretion on allocation of the funds.

Distribute Food

LISBON, May 6.—A carload of oranges and a similar quantity of cabbages will be distributed this week to sub-divisions for relief purposes. H. A. Moore, federal surplus commodity distributor for the county, announced Thursday.

Relief officials will make their own arrangements to transport the supplies from Lisbon, Mr. Moore stated.

Hint Jackie Coogan May Become Father

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Friends of Jackie Coogan hinted today "The Kid" might become a father by year's end.

Jackie, embroiled in a $400,000 accounting suit against his mother and step-father, met the hints with silence. Betty Grable, his bride of last November, indicated that Coogan was the family spokesman.

Mrs. Arthur L. Bernstein, Jackie's mother, meanwhile brought the name of Bobby, his 13-year-old brother, into the accounting case.

"Jackie," she said, "apparently wants all the money that Robert earned, too."

All that Bobby earned as the star of "Sooky" in 1931 went to Jackie Coogan Productions, Inc., Mrs. Bernstein said.

"All salaries," she added, "those of Jackie, Jackie's father, mine and little Robert, were turned over regularly to the corporation."

Seeks Merit Plan

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, chief of the bureau of navigation, today urged an amendment to a naval personnel bill to give priority in assignment to duty to officers selected as best fitted for promotion, irrespective of seniority in grade.

Death or Blindness; Parents to Choose For Afflicted Tot

CHICAGO, May 6.—An ailing baby rested in a hospital crib today while her heartbroken parents weighed a choice between blindness or death.

An operation probably would save the life but kill the sight of Baby Helaine Judith Colan, 5 weeks old, medical men agreed. They predicted that without an operation, Glioma, a tumor affliction from which the infant suffers, would take the child's life in two months.

The malady was considered unusual but the operation necessary to arrest it. It was said to be not dangerous in the average case.

Dr. and Mrs. Herman Colan, the parents, also considered a slim possibility of saving part of the infant's sight by removing one eye and treating the other with X-ray.

"I dread the possibility that my baby someday might be left to the care of strangers in a sightless world," said Dr. Colan, a 30 year old dentist.

"I can't decide. I don't know what to do."

FORM GROUP TO WATCH EXPENSE

Industrialists Throw Support Behind Dickinson Suits To Recover From State

COLUMBUS, May 6.—The support of a committee of industrialists and business men was thrown today behind suits to recover more than $3,350,000 which Agnes B. Dickinson alleges the state government has overcharged as a result of "political deals."

The committee purposes not only to assist Mrs. Dickinson but to make investigations of state administrative practices and to attempt to control state expenditures.

Organization of the group was announced by S. P. Bush, retired industrialist and former president of the Buckeye Steel Castings company of Columbus. Bush is chairman of the committee.

Other members are Preston Davis, Treasurer of American Education Press; Walker T. Dickerson, of Columbus shoe manufacturer, and A. H. Thomas, president of Buckeye Steel Castings.

Bush's announcement said the committee intended to expand into a statewide organization and hoped to emulate the 200 taxpayers' associations in Massachusetts which claim to have blocked state extravaganzas totaling $50,000,000 and to have saved huge sums in municipal budgets.

The committee also intends to supply the public with information and figures to help it appraise state expenditures.

The committee's policy will be non-political, Bush said. He is a Democrat.

Arrest New Yorker In Store Fire Probe

EAST LIVERPOOL, May 6.—Assistant State Fire Marshal Michael J. Mellillo was on his way today to Albany, N. Y. to bring back Irving White, manager of a Gloversville, N. Y. store, to face a charge of arson, in connection with a fire which partly destroyed the People's Credit Clothing store, chain unit, here three weeks ago.

Mellillo issued the warrant under which White was arrested at Gloversville.

Will Pay Salaries

MARION, May 6.—Six city employees who tied up city funds for the past ten days to force payment of back salaries will be paid $3,938, city council decided in a special meeting.

JAPAN PUSHING TRADE PROSPECT

Shanghai Distributor for Salem Firm Tells of Business Outlook

communication in the Yangtze valley for all types of merchandise and supplies, have only recently been re-opened and are still too restricted by Japanese control to admit free passage.

"The railways, from which the retreating Chinese forces managed to withdraw the locomotives and rolling stock, are at present carrying Japanese military traffic, only in rolling stock imported from Japan.

Shanghai Isolated
"Shanghai is still isolated from the surrounding country.

"Many foreign (including Japanese) mills have re-opened, though only on part time, because, due to lack of communications with the interior, the market for the products cannot absorb a normal output.

"Chapel, the Chinese native city on the north boundary of the Settlement, is still an uninhabited ruin, but the former Chinese areas on the East and South, where comparatively little damage has been done, are being administered by Japanese. The customs, although not under their direct control here, is obliged, in many instances to submit to their pressure and it is forbidden, for instance, to export from Shanghai to Hongkong and South China any articles that might be construed as usable by the Chinese for war purposes.

Japs Eye Reviving Trade
"As normal trade revives, rehabilitation of communications and industry will be necessary, and while the Japanese doubtless hope to secure a disproportionate share in this, it is unlikely that they will have the productive capacity, and it is most improbable that they will have the financial resources to do so.

"Although business, at the moment, is showing only slight signs of improvement, we are hopeful that we shall more than maintain our position when recovery is fairly under way, though we have no great expectations of this for many months.

Theater Attractions

Irene Dunne and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., as they appear in "Joy of Living" at the State tonight and Saturday.

Irene Dunne and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., head the excellent cast of "Joy of Living" the tonight and Saturday feature at the State. Also in the cast are Alice Brady, Guy Kibbee, Jean Dixon, Eric Blone, Lucille Ball, Warren Hymer and others.

A Stormy Romance

The story deals with the stormy romance between Miss Dunne, a popular musical comedy star whose huge income is lavished on her selfish family, and Fairbanks, a self-confident young man, who has disinherited his rich relatives to become a sort of sea vagabond, who preaches a doctrine of attaining happiness by doing what you want to.

Believing her duty lies in letting her parents and her sister have their own way, and in working to the limit of her endurance in order to satisfy their rapacious demands, Miss Dunne quarrels violently with Fairbanks when he urges her to throw her family overboard and learn to enjoy herself. And his unconventional efforts to convince her make for delightful complications in the story and lead to its gripping climax when she at last

For Stamp Collectors

Two special cachets of stamps in connection with National Air Mail week, May 15-21, are available to Salem stamp collectors. The philatelists may secure from Santa Barbara, Calif., postoffice, stamps commemorating the time in 1911 when the late Earle Ovington of Santa Barbara carried the first sack of mail ever delivered by air in the United States.

Postmaster M. F. O'Donnell at Cleveland has selected a cachet carrying the message that Cleveland is the home of the national air races.

U. S. Should Prepare, Woodring Asserts

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Secretary of War Woodring warned today that "continued aggression" by dictator nations might some day drive the democratic countries to war and that the United States must be prepared for that eventuality.

"I am not one of those who believe there is any immediate danger of a general war or even that war is inevitable," Woodring told the United States Chamber of Commerce. "In fact tension in Europe has lessened somewhat in the past week or two."

"However, we would be derelict in our duty if we did not recognize the hazards in the world situation."

"At present the democracies are firmly pacificist. They have not always been so. If pressed too far a wave of indignation might sweep over them that would make it extremely difficult to keep the peace. It is essential that continued aggression stop before things get out of hand."

MOON ECLIPSE DUE ON MAY 14

Astronomical Antics To Be Visible Over N. America

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 6.—For 51 minutes the night of May 14 the moon will be totally eclipsed over the entire United States and North America and over the western part of South America.

The earth's shadow will completely cover the moon at 3:18 a. m. (EST) and will start sliding off the moon's face again at 4:00 a. m. For the eastern part of the United States this means that the end of the eclipse will be seen on a setting moon in the west while dawn is lighting the eastern horizon. The sun rises on the morning of May 14 at 4:46 a. m. and the moon sets five minutes later.

The preliminaries of this celestial show will be visible to sharp eyes shortly after midnight. At 12:44 a. m. (EST) the penumbra—the partial shadow of the earth, will begin to veil the moon's face. The penumbra does not blot out the moon, but only darkens it, as a small portion of the sun's rays still strike the moon.

At 1:57 a. m. appears the umbra. This is the round, solid black shadow of the earth. It slides across the moon, taking an hour and 21 minutes to cover the satellite completely.

During total eclipse, the moon is sometimes still visible as a faint, copper-colored ball. This color is the red halo of light which the sun makes around the earth at the line between daylight and darkness. To a person on the moon, the halo would be seen completely surrounding the earth. It is due to the same filtering of light by the earth's atmosphere which causes the red colors of sunset and sunrise.

Acquit Patrolman

CLEVELAND, May 6.—Patrolman Gaylord C. Stotts, 36, today was the first of seven Cleveland police officers, tried on charges of accepting bribes from bootleggers during the prohibition era, to be acquitted. In earlier trials five were convicted and one pleaded guilty.

Call Upon Czechs To Placate Nazis

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, May 6.—A joint Franco-British appeal to Czechoslovakia to make utmost concessions to her Nazi minority and a warning to Germany against committing any "action of violence" on the central European Republic will be made within the next few hours, sources close to the foreign office declared today.

Representations by the two governments in an effort to wipe out a threat of European war will follow decisions made by the French and British ministers at their meeting in London a week ago to arrange a common front in defense and foreign policy.

Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador at Berlin, will see Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi and acting chancellor during Reichsfuehrer Hitler's absence in Italy, today, it was said. The French and British ministers in Prague will call at the same time on the Czech foreign office.

Sir Neville will tell Goering, on behalf of France as well as his own government, these sources said, that a conciliatory settlement of the Sudeten German problem will be possible only if German Nazi leaders bring pressure on Czechoslovak Nazis to compromise with the Prague government.

GIANTS, INDIANS LOSE SERIES IN ROAD INVASIONS

American, National Loop

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Don't look now, but can that be the rejuvenated Cleveland Indians and Bill Terry's terrific Giants who have dropped the first series of their respective eastern and western invasions?

Only a week ago, they were saying that Oscar Vitt had put some T. N. T. into the Tribe's breakfast food this year, and that from now on they wouldn't be like little Bo Beep's lost sheep when they made their tours. And they were saying, too, that Terry's Terriers had uncovered a batting punch no one suspected they had.

But all that was before both outfits left home and the friendly feel of their own parks. And now the little birds are starting to whisper that it's probably the same old set of Indians, after all, and that Terry's Terriers looked like sluggers against the eastern stogies, but now that they're pushing over opposition.

For years, Cleveland has been famous as the team that looked like champs at home and tramps everywhere else in the circuit. The Senators squeaked through with a 1-0 decision in 13 innings Wednesday, and yesterday hung an 8-6 beating on the Vitt warriors, largely through Johnny Stone's homer with the bases loaded.

For the last three days, the Giants have been performing in the vast reaches of Cincinnati's Crosley field, and they've dropped two of three games. Yesterday Harry Gumbert was whipped, 5-2, by the rude Reds, largely through the help of an obnoxious two-run error by Master Mel Ott.

The Giants chief rivals, the Chicago Cubs, opened up and knocked the ears off the futile Phillies, 21-2, with an 18-hit attack that featured a 12-run spurge in the eighth inning. Rookie Paul Eppery held the Phils to six hits in his first major league start.

The Indians' loss left the Tribe in first place in the American league by only one game, since those Yankees rolled up their sleeves, fired out 16 hits for 29 bases, including homer No. 3 for Joe DiMaggio, and bowled over the Browns, 12-10, for the third straight day.

Rudy York finally found the range and clouted two homers to pace the Detroit Tigers to a 7-5 win over the Boston Red Sox, in a game that saw George Tebbets and the belligerent Ben Chapman get the bounce for fighting.

Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox socked the Athletics, 10-4, with Garbo Gable, who couldn't make the grade in the National league, handcuffing Connie Mack's lads with seven hits.

Red Lucas' pitching arm and Pep Young's three runs batted in gave

BOWLING RESULTS

The Salem News clinched its second straight championship in the Commercial Bowling league last night, winning two out of three games from Berg Bretzels to assume an eight-game lead over the Sinclairs and Grate Recreation teams which are tied for second.

The News has six more games to bowl, but stands no chance of losing its championship since defeats in all of these games would only increase its losses to 35, two less than the Sinclairs and Grate's have at the present time.

The Sinclairs and Grate's became deadlocked in second place last night when the former dropped two out of three games to the Crescent Machine, while the latter won three from the Salem Polo Club.

In other matches, Bishop's Engineers won three from People's Lumber, Smith Creamery's won two out of three from Merit Shoes and the Ohio Bell took two out of three from the Leetonia All-Stars.

GUN CLUBS TO VIE IN SHOOT

Salem, Youngstown and Franklin, Pa. Shooters
To Have Series

A series of six inter-city trap and skeet shoots between gun clubs of Salem, Youngstown and Franklin, Pa., has been arranged by officials of the three clubs.

Competition will start Sunday, May 8, with the opening shoot at Youngstown and end Sunday, Sept. 25, with the closing event at Salem.

George Baillie and Nathan Hunt of the Salem Gun club, who have been instrumental in planning the shoots, announced today that every effort will be made to keep the expense of the meets as low as possible because of the present economic conditions.

The purpose of the series is to promote good fellowship and a general good time for everyone interested in shooting. The sum of 25 cents will be taken from each entry fee to cover the cost of a banquet which will be held at the conclusion of the series.

In order to be eligible for the banquet, members of the three gun clubs must have participated in at least four of the shoots, all of which will be registered. Friends of shooters and others interested in the trap and skeet sport are welcome to attend all meets.

The traps shoots will be 100-bird, 16-yard, and 50-bird handicap. All skeet shoots will be 50-bird. Shells and lunch will be provided shooters on the grounds.

The schedule for the series follows:
May 8, Youngstown; May 28, Franklin, Pa.; June 10, Salem;

July 17, Youngstown; August 21, Franklin, Pa.; Sept. 25, Salem.

"Love I Dare Not" by ALLENE CORLISS

SYNOPSIS

Alec Graham, 36, is a successful playwright, and Gina Warren, at 31, has matched his success in her own field, portrait painting. Ten years ago, they had been deeply in love, but the demands of their careers had become so pressing that, finally, they had drifted from the idea of marriage into an almost casual friendship. Dining one evening with Barry Bedard, art critic and old friend, Gina confesses to him her regret that she and Alec allowed ambition to become more important than love. Believing she promises Barry to try to renew the former romance. But that same evening, Gina's young cousin, Caroline Hoyt, arrives to stay with Alec. She wants to study dramatics. Alec, interested in spite of himself by Caroline's personality and talent undertakes to help her. He places her with a dramatic coach, Rose Martell, and takes her to see all the important plays. Alec does not realize he is in love with Caroline. Then, Gina gets an out-of-town assignment to do a portrait. Alec sees her off. Noticing how tired and thin she has grown, he tells her she must soon take a long vacation—in Bermuda, or perhaps in the south of France. He remembers, as the train pulls out, how many times they two had planned to take just such a holiday together. He thought now if he suggested it, Gina would have laughed and said, "Don't be an idiot over your lives years ago." Later that night, Alec kisses Caroline and realizes he loves her. She, however, is not sure of her feelings for him, never having thought of him in that way.

CHAPTER X

He dropped his arms and walked across the room and picked up her fur coat. It was a childish brown beaver that looked as if it had been worn, adorned with chrysanthemums, to innumerable football games at New England colleges. "Get into this, angel. We're going places."

His hands resting lightly on her shoulder, his eyes looking deeply into hers he said, "I'm not going any further with this tonight, but it's only fair to warn you that I am serious about being in love with you and that before very long you will have to decide what you are going to do about it—if anything."

He took her to one of the restaurants in the West Fifties where he was very well known and where people looked at her curiously. And it amused him to know that tonight they were interested in her only because she was with him, but that within a year or two they would be staring at her because she was Caroline Hoyt, the actress, and famous in her own right.

Two hours later, he took her back to Gina's flat on Tenth Street. He let her go without kissing her again. All the way back to his apartment hotel, he wondered why he had done that. And decided that it was probably because he knew that the next time he kissed her, it would not be lightly as he had tonight, and that he would not be willing to leave it there.... that certain things would have to be settled.... certain promises made and given.

At his hotel he found a cablegram waiting for him. Tommy Gale had reached Panama and was on his way north to New York.

Six weeks before, Tommy Gale had kissed a girl in Santiago and decided to return to New York.

He had removed a smear of lipstick from his upper lip, replaced his handkerchief in the breast pocket of his white linen dinner jacket, and said, "Well, that settles it, I guess.... I'm going back to New York."

The girl, a sister of one of the mine officials, the first pretty girl to visit the plant in months, lifted slightly bemused eyes and said, "But, Tommy, I don't live in New York."

"Don't you?" said Tommy Gale gently. "That's too bad."

"No," said the girl, whose name was Marilyn. "I live in Toledo, Ohio. I thought you knew."

"Sure," said Tommy. "I remember now. And the one before you was from Memphis. And the one before that was from Seattle. There haven't been," he announced in a slightly melancholy voice, "a baker's dozen of you all told in the last three years. It isn't enough. It isn't nearly enough."

"Oh," said Marilyn, who thought she was beginning to see the whole thing and wasn't liking any of it very much, "so that's it? You kiss me and like it and decide to go home and give yourself a whirl?"

"Well," said Tommy amiably, "something like that. That's not the only reason why I'm going back," he added. "There's another one—"

Then he stopped. No use telling this girl about Alec. She wouldn't be interested. No use telling her that for some time now he had been trying to decide whether to renew his contract for another three years or go home. And until tonight he had been undecided. Now, either because Alec's letters recently had sounded lonely or because when he kissed her, he had been suddenly reminded of a good many things he had not thought about acutely for some time, he had made up his mind definitely to go home.

Dancing with her later, he thought, "It's funny that a girl whom I've never seen until tonight and never will see again after she goes north next week should have been able to help me decide something I've been trying to make up my mind about for weeks."

Because she really had done that. Kissing her, as much because she expected him to as because he wanted to, he had been seized with a sudden sharp nostalgia for all the things she stood for, all the things he had managed for some time to do without—candlelight and dance music and gardenias.... football games and opening nights and roof gardens and taxicabs. Sharing an apartment with Alec. Having late Sunday morning breakfast with him. Sitting up with him and Gina until daylight to get the morning papers to see his first reviews. All the things that he had turned his back on when he left New York to take this engineering job at the end of the world.

Yet for three years he had never once regretted any of them, except, perhaps, his companionship with Alec. Yes, certainly he had regretted that. But otherwise, for three years he had had a swell time and done some good work. His hair, which had once been dark brown, was bleached on the top of his head to a light amber and his skin, which had once been fair, was burned dark as a Spaniard's.

For three years he had lived in riding breeches and mining boots and sombreros, had ridden on mules and narrow gauge railroads, had come down here to Santiago on his weekends to play Twenty-one and bet on the races and buy magazines and phonograph records and cigars. He had, perhaps once a week, shaved carefully and got into his tuxedo to have dinner at the home of one of the married members of the staff.

Once in a while girls had visited the mines. Slim, bright-lipped creatures like this girl tonight, who hummed snatches of songs that were strange to him and talked of books and plays that were unfamiliar. He invariably danced with them, kissed them, and missed them briefly after they departed. But most of the time there were no girls, and he hadn't cared particularly.

He had stopped writing to the half dozen or so whose pictures he had brought down with him from New Haven. Prom girls he had been in love with at one time or another. At first they had written faithfully because he was a more than average good-looking young man, who had danced superbly and made love to them gaily, and in some instances ardently. But in the end it had hardly seemed worth while to write to anyone so far away and they had stopped, and he had not minded in the least because by that time he only remembered them vaguely and collectively and had long since run out of things to write to them about.

But now he found himself thinking of them again and trying half-heartedly to remember their names and wondering, if he was able to locate them, where he was supposed to take them to dance and dine and what he was expected to talk to them about.

The fall he had left New York

Democratic Fight May Assist G.O.P.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 6.—Republicans from whom the Democrats snatched Pennsylvania in 1934, saw the state's Democratic row today as "greatly improving" the chances of getting it back.

Exulted G. Edward Green, state Republican chairman.

"Our chances were very good before. We are in much better shape now. Let the Democrats fight it out. This is their mess."

Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James and former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, rivals for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Pennsylvania's May 17 primary, agreed.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads. will tell you where.

people had been going to a play about the Brownings called "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," there had been a swell dance tune called "Night and Day," and there was to be, early in the next year, a bank holiday. Everyone was excited about what the President-elect would or would not be able to do to save the country, and there was a newcomer in the movies, a girl from Hartford, called Katharine Hepburn, who was getting talked about favorably.

He had been twenty-one, freshly graduated from Yale, and in love with a small blond girl named Dorothy. At least he thought it was Dorothy, but it might have been Marjorie. Anyway, for two weeks he had taken her about, dining with her at the restaurants which were smart that year and dancing with her wherever Guy Lombardo's band was playing that fall, he thought it was at the Roosevelt. They had had a gay, carefree, expensive time, and then he had said good-by to her and to Alec and to Gina, and sailed on a United Fruit boat for South America.

Now he had forgotten the girl's name and what she looked like, and was looking forward eagerly to seeing those other two people to whom whom he had said good-by, three years ago.

Within six weeks he could have things cleaned up at the mines and catch an English boat out of Valparaiso for the States. He would take a slow boat because it would be cheaper, and at Panama he would cable Alec when he would arrive in New York.
